

Make it Count

- A Guide for the 21st Century Accelerationist -

MAKE IT COUNT

If you're reading this document, you are hopefully a man of action and not one of the countless men of empty words and threats.

This document is not meant to radicalize you to action because it is assumed that if you are here reading this you are already at that point, the point of wanting to make a meaningful change in this world by doing what you can to strike a blow to this system.

While selecting a target, you must think big-picture. While you can shoot a grocery store full of niggers, you are treating the symptoms of the cancer, not the cause. You must select targets that do the most damage to the system and spark revolution and chaos.

Collapse of this current system is the only means of saving our White race. Much of the time, men of action who are frustrated with the current order lash out and commit noble acts of violence against disgusting nonwhites, but this in the end doesn't change much. Tomorrow they will give birth to whatever number you liquidated and more, more disgusting ugly nonwhite babies.

The current system, or technological society in which we live enables this. So long as the power turns on, the status quo, the downward decline of our race, and the increase in nonwhites in our lands will carry on unhindered. So this document is being assembled to guide you, young warrior, towards more fruitful acts, acts that will REALLY harm the system and bring us closer to the collapse that is needed for our race to once again thrive on this planet.

The main thing that keeps the anti-White system going is the powergrid. The system with all its technology and computerization cannot continue to exert anywhere near the level of authority it currently does without the powergrid functioning and intact. This is something that is easier than you think. Peppered all over the country are power distribution substations that keep electricity flowing all over the country. Sitting ducks, worthy prey. They are largely unprotected and often in remote locations. They can be struck at with easy, and it can be done without getting caught, allowing for multiple to be hit in a spree.

MAKE IT COUNT

In reports made in the aftermath of the Metcalf Sniper Attack, it was said by government officials that if 3 major substations similar to the one attacked at Metcalf were struck around the same time, or within a few days (it takes a long long time to repair these, especially the BIG transformers, they have to be brought in by railroad and are custom made), the powergrid would be crippled for a very large area. Armor piercing rounds shot into the transformers would destroy them.

This is unquestionably more effective than shooting up random niggers who will kill each other anyway, or worse yet will just reproduce to make up for their losses in less than 24 hours.

But with the power off, when the lights don't come back on... Pallerhell will break lose, making conditions desirable for our race to once again take back what is ours. People talk and talk and talk all the time about what they WANT to do, but few have the WILL and COURAGE to actually make things happen in the real world. Don't talk (AT ALL TO ANYONE about what you have in mind, countless people have been caught like this) just act, plan carefully, and act. You will be above Sainthood when the lights don't turn back on and we are plunged into urban warfare.

The arteries of the system are the powergrid, telecommunications/internet, oil transportation/pipelines, water lines, and similar things. These things are not human beings, but they allow for the disgusting nonwhites in our lands to exist. They allow for the existence of the system that protects them from us. They allow for all that we hate and despise, all the things that attack our people. There may not be as much glory in destroying these things, but there is more effectiveness. Consider that when you read this, are you in this for glory and high scores, treating life like a video game and leaderboard, or are you in this for destroying the anti-White system that is the biggest threat to our people in history? Think carefully, and act accordingly. You are a hero to us all.

EFFECTIVE ASSASSINATION

Sometimes it is not the body count that is the most shocking thing of a murderous attack but rather the manner in which it is carried out. For this reason, if one has their mind set on murder, assassination is likely to create by far the greatest shock and outrage. To this day we still hear about the Manson Family Murders, but very little about other mass casualty incidents with a higher body count.

This is for 2 reasons, 1) because the gruesome manner in which the murders took place, and 2) the high profile of most of those killed.

Assassinations are incredibly shocking to the public mind because in order to assassinate a high value target or someone of import, you must be clever and cunning, using a spectrum of different skills to work your way in to the point where you can strike your deadly blow. Circumventing the security measures that may be in place to protect these disgusting people.

Think of the following scenario: A high up system pig lives in his comfy house with his wife and young child, in their neighborhood far removed from the hell of society they help create. One day, a clever, cunning, and ruthless person, using whatever tactics needed, makes it into their home. He cuts the head off of this system pig, kills his wife, and nails their child to the wall. Before leaving he leaves a message on the walls with their blood. His weapon was not a gun but was much more personal and frightening, the age-old dagger. Death was not over in an instant squeeze of the trigger but in the drawn out time it took for the victims to bleed to death.

The news is buzzing about this incident for months afterwards and the world is shocked to its core that one of the "precious" elites was removed from this earth in a most fitting way. Nobody is safe from this vengeance which they have forced to be unleashed.

These people keep themselves insulated from us for a reason, they know that we despise them. However with the clever use of social engineering you can get anywhere you want to be and seem like you're SUPPOSED to be there. A book that is highly recommended on the great art of social engineering is "Social Engineering: The Art of Human Hacking" by Christopher Hadnagy, read it. Learn to pick locks, learn to gain access to buildings and areas you otherwise would not be able to while looking like you're supposed to be there, learn how to manipulate people so that you can better carry out your plan. Be smart.

Leave pools of blood in your wake, let everyone be chilled to their very bones by the barbarity and gruesomeness of your acts, let hatred be personified by your actions. And most of all, make it count, don't waste such an action on the low hanging fruit.

URBAN SNIPER

Urban guerrilla sniping is a drastic departure from traditional concepts of sniping. In fact, traditional sniper methodology falls flat in the arena of urban guerrilla warfare.

HIGH-POWERED RIFLE MYTH

A high-powered rifle is not required for effective sniping, especially in an urban environment where a long-barreled, bulky weapon is more of a liability than an asset.

THE CHILLIE SUIT MYTH

The Chillie Suit is a rural-centric camouflage method that constrains a sniper to a specific environment - it only works in the woods. A sniper in a Chillie Suit stands out in an urban environment as opposed to blending into it. For example, Urban Sniper Charles Whitman calmly walked to the observation deck of the Texas Tower in Austin, Texas wearing a pair of coveralls. To the surrounding people he looked like a janitor. In the cities, camouflage may be a pair of jeans and a leather jacket.

Urban Sniper

AN ANONYMOUS LIFE

Life for the conventional sniper is simpler. The conventional sniper does not have to conceal their profession since they live and work in the open. The guerrilla sniper must live a life of secrecy, never allowing the public to know their true discipline. While one can look up John Plaster's contact information in the phone book, there are no listings for 'Guerrilla Snipers' in the Grozny, Belfast, or Fallujah yellow pages. For the guerrilla sniper, exposure means death or imprisonment.

After the shot, the guerrilla does not have the luxury to pat themselves on the back or even stay around to make another shot. Instead, the guerrilla's primary goal is to immediately blend into the urban terrain, like a human chameleon, and disappear.

URBAN CAMOUFLAGE

Camouflage

Hide yourself by blending into a sea of people, traffic, and populated roadways. Walk routes that block an observer's view, dress like others around you and behave casually. Become the appropriate character for your mission. Baseball caps and easily removable clothing and accessories can help ensure you look forgettable.

Concealment

Parked in a sea of vehicles, with your rifle pointed out of a hole drilled in a vehicle you stole or borrowed, or hiding inside one of the many naturally occurring features in an urban environment will allow you to take your shot, calmly leave, and live to fight another day.

Can you find THE SNIPER?!! ME NEITHER

IRA

Learn from the IRA's successful examples of insurgency, especially if you are acting with a small group of comrades. Execute missions on a strictly "needs to know" basis, borrow and steal equipment necessary for the job.

Cover

When carrying out offensive operations, do not worry about cover. It's best to attack and disappear. Also ditch any heavy unnecessary items like a bulletproof vest that will slow you down or make you look suspicious.
